Home Direct instructions for unitizing

- Principles:
 - Shipment unitizing refers to the loading of bundles on cargo pallets, cage pallets, or roll cages.
 - The unitizing level is selected based on the size of the batch to be delivered as well as the size and service of the shipments.
- Packing of transport units
 - The content of the transport units cannot exceed the upper edge of the cage or roll cage.
 - The content cannot exceed the outer edges of the pallet.
- Weight restrictions
 - The use of transport units must adhere to the following weight restrictions in domestic transport:
 - Max. use weight of a pallet (100 x 120 cm) is 1,000 kg
 - Max. use weight of a publication cage is 1,000 kg
 - Max. use weight of a roll cage is 250 kg
 - Max. use weight of a half pallet is 450 kg
 - Use weight = transport unit + content

Mailing instructions

- A batch will be divided by versions into direction-specific units (directions in slide 8).
 - Different versions of the same batch cannot be in the same unit (the said version must be indicated in the unit's container label).
- It is not necessary to collar the bundles.
- Bundle labels are not attached to individual bundles.
- The bundle is only half folded or, based on the ad layout, not at all.
- A yellow container label will be printed from the order channel and attached to the transport unit.
- Transport units used in recommended order:
 - Pallet
 - Publication cage
 - Roller cage

Preparedness (extra pieces)

Bundle treatment, including unitizing and collaring, may damage the items on the top or at the bottom and lead to wastage. Therefore, it is recommended that extra pieces are added to the batch ensuring that there is enough material for production.

• Batch size	Additional items
• 20,000-99,999	500
• 100,000–499,999	1,000
• 500,000–999,999	2,000
• Over 1 million	5,000

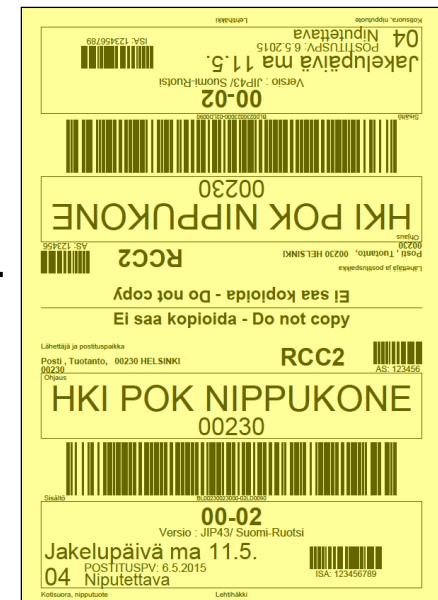

If the batch has versions with a total count of less than 50,000 pieces, 500 extra pieces are recommended for each version.

Control labels for extra pieces can be printed from ordering channels.
